

How the IWAR Draft works:

This event takes a lot of work, requiring input from our players, our Commissioners and then we weave it all together into three parts. First, players will declare their wrestler/s (max of 2 per player) for the draft and send me a picture of their wrestler and a promo where their star pitches themselves as the top pick.

Next, we collect all those promos for the 2026 IWAR Draft Special edition of the IWAR Magazine that will allow the IWAR Commissioners and the fans to see who makes up the draft class.

Then, we hold the IWAR Draft on a LIVE edition of the IWAR Tubecast with the picks announced one, by one, trades revealed and we have instant reactions and analysis throughout the show.

After that, we have a special segment in the IWAR Magazine, where we recap the draft with each draftee's destination and each league's draft class.

Finally, the drafted wrestlers will compete over the next 4 cycles and the wrestler who earns the most IWAR rankings points, will be the winner of the 2026 IWAR Draft. The winner will earn a shot at the IWAR Revolution champion and be featured on a future IWAR Magazine.

If you are a player outside the IWAR Network, but want to give it a try, please do. If you need inspiration, we've added some examples of previous Draft Specials. It really is a great way to energize your game. Our goal is to get 24 draftable entries and if you want in AND... you will show up, compete and have fun, do it!

The next few pages cover the history of the IWAR Draft year by year with looks at what happened, who the first-round picks and give you some examples of what we look for from those who declare their wrestler/s for the draft.

2025 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The Maryland Militia (Brian Clothier, Garrie Morris & Random Baltimore Vagrant) went first overall, but the RTL's new Commish made a big trade to get the 2nd pick from the IWL for their 13th and 14th picks, drafting the Bullseye Syndicate, the BBL drafted the Fish Fam, but it was the ACW shocked the fans, drafting Mark the Fan Botch and then trading him for El Luchador Americano. This year a Mystery Pick was established and the IWL used the 13th pick to reveal a man, many thought to have his career ended by Brian Clothier's sneak attack, Kamikaze!

2024 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The IWAR's expansion meant 8 drafting leagues and a diverse collection of talent meant the return of the IWAR Draft. While the NWL rookie entries were down, there was a surge in new wrestlers entered from existing players who wanted to take part in the fun. A three-way tie leads to a triple threat playoff to determine the winner of the IWAR Draft which is won by Grave Yard Dog who gets by Greg E. Money and King Khan.

2022 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Another year with the two-league draft and thankfully, a number of stars that paid off. The stunning pick of Zanroar at 2 overall didn't pan out, but it was a fun ride while it lasted. Honor Revolt and Death Row continued their NWL feud into the BRL and the IWL saw stables like Nightmare Court, Math Club and Taste for Violence pad the roster. A slow year in the NWL resulted in the IWAR Draft skipping 2023 to get a better field in 2024.

2021 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The IWAR's contraction to four leagues mean draftees went to either the BRL or IWL, but thankfully the draft class was bursting at the seams. The influx of new stars helped revamp both leagues, but hopes were high for the overall first pick. Which made his going inactive such a bummer as a number of angles were built around one wrestler that disappeared.

2020 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Another great crop of talent included many females as the CWL looked to launch a Women's division to rival the BRLs. Picking the best can be tough and as they say "the best ability, is availability" and in less than a year, the entire first round was out of the IWA. While the results were revealed live on the IWAR Tubecast, the actual draft was held a week before, then flashy graphics were produced for the eventual reveal.

2019 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The BBL joined the IWAR and made big moves landing Barry Stevens, War Pig, the Math Club and Dixon Ticonderoga, while the CWL added NWL stars Outlaw Jon Nash, Monster Truck Tanaka and IWL great, Graham Underwood. Considered to be the greatest draft for its diverse draftees, many of these stars are still competing in the IWA.

2018 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

Considered the Draft where it blew up, the live results made tempers flare as Konik felt disrespected as the blue chipper fell to the 6th round! The IWL made a huge move to get The Chameleon as well as many of his NWL costars in a move that took the league to the top. While many of the CWL and BRL's picks flopped, Late Night Logan Kane and R.A. Rude were home runs for the IWA's longest running league.

2017 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

In it's second year, the first pick went on to win it all, but the numerous trades saw the IWL and BRL trade future picks in order to get the best available talent now. This was the second year of hosting the draft LIVE on the IWAR Tubecast and the instant reactions to drafts and trades made it a lot of fun for all who took part. (even spectators) Of the 25 draftees, only 2 remain active in 2025 (The Von Snapp brothers)

2016 IWAR DRAFT RECAP

The first draft ever were a unit and the slick talking Greaser, Fingers Fairlane ran the table to win the inaugural draft. Neo's pick at number 2 and the IWL's trade to acquire Senor Lucha set the table for an epic rivalry with Luthor Alexander. BWM being drafted to the BRL was the only way to end their feud with the Von Snapps. Out of the 30 draftees, only 3 (Lucha, Jim Spur & Alec Von Snapp_ remain active in 2025.
